XM radio is welcome addition to the limited non commercial radio that a consumer can enjoy. I do pay a monthly fee, in fact I own and listen to two different XM radio's. One in my vehicle and one at home. The fee entitles me to many choices in music, entertainment, and news.

In fact, I don't really listen to AM or FM radio anymore. I like the option of the many choices for music and information.

For a paid radio service, no one should have the power to decide on what the public should listen to.

XM Instant Traffic & weather is only a small service that paid consumers need and use on a daily basis.

I and others urge the FCC to reject the NAB's petition 04-160 and to support XM's ability to provide the kind of programming that todays consumers desire.
